Justice Sets Heavy Bail For Perkasie Resident

The heaviest bail on record in recent years in an assault and battery case in Bucks county, was placed on Robert Scheetz, 39, of Perkasie, Saturday, by Justice of the Peace E. B. Keller, of Perkasie.

The charge is aggravated, according to Justice Keller, who said there is evidence that Scheetz, in an alleged intoxicated condition, assaulted his wife and threatened her with a loaded shotgun.

Scheetz was arrested by Chief of Police James Schatz, of Perkasie, on the information of Scheetz's wife, Margaret, who is the prosecutrix.

Justice Keller fixed bail at $5,000, and in default of bail, Scheetz was committed to the Bucks County Prison at Doylestown, to await the action of the Grand Jury at the next term of Bucks county criminal court.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

An unusual note was introduced at the Sunday morning service of Forest Grove Presbyterian church, when the student pastor, Mr. Dickson, introduced the Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Clemens, Lansdale, Mennonite missionaries in Ethiopia, who are home on furlough.

Mr. Clemens gave greetings from Dr. and Mrs. Davies, now missionaries in Addis Ababa. Ten years ago Dr. Davies was pastor of the Forest Grove church, and gave up the charge to teach religion.

Mr. Clemens, who is business manager of a hospital, is 60 miles from the mission where Mrs. Davies teaches in an English school and Dr. Davies is in the process of translating the New Testament from Greek into Arabic.

The Davies family plans to return to this country for a furlough in a year, and at that time will visit the church, at Forest Grove to tell of their work in Ethiopia.

John F. Mason, a past president of Kiwanis Club of Doylestown, was the speaker last night at the weekly dinner meeting of Kiwanis. His subject was "A layman's viewpoint of socialized medicine."

Harry Stephens Nabbed; Alleged Theft Acciplice

Chief of Bristol Township Police Joseph Seader went to Elizabeth, N. J., this morning to take into his custody a resident of Bristol Terrace I, apprehended by police of Elizabeth. The one taken into custody is Harry Stephens, Schumacher Drive, who was sought as an alleged accomplice of Ralph Gantz, Bristol Terrace II, in the burglary of Brescia's Cafe, Beaver Dam road, last week. Approximately $200, was stolen from the cafe at that time.

Stephens was held in the Elizabeth city jail, and was to be given a hearing in municipal court there. He is said to have waived extradition.

Gantz, who is said to have admitted entering the cafe and stealing the money, had returned to his home to pick up unemployment checks. Police had been watching for his return, and nabbed him at his home at three o'clock Sunday morning.

LEAGUE OF THE LISTLESS

Since man first began writing down the history of events, there have been countless alliances among states and nations, for many purposes.

Most of these failed to reach their goals. Only a handful succeeded in their objectives.

Perhaps no league ever formed was more illogical in its lineup, and more clearly foredoomed to costly failure, than the Atlantic Pact now being brought to completion.

It doesn't make sense in economics, diplomacy, military tactics—or human nature.

As for the Pact's economic foundation, the agreement is as one-sided as the famous understanding between the ducks and the horses—"not to step on each others' feet." It is something like the wise-crack made by the Yankee showman, P. T. Barnum, regarding his contract with Jenny Lind, who was as noted for her charitable contributions as for her brilliant voice:

"Why is it that Jenny Lind and Barnum will never fall out? Because he is always for-getting, and she is always for-giving."

There you have the two roles of the major parties making up the Atlantic Pact. The European members of the alliance, from Great Britain down, are "for getting." Uncle Sam's purpose in it is "for giving."

With the war over for four years this spring, the peoples of Europe have still shown no interest in going back to work and becoming self-supporting. They are more interested in politics than perspiration. Their immediate political interest is Socialism, because this promises them government support whether they earn it or not.

Dazzled by this dream of security financed by government checks, the nations of Europe have drifted. They have become listless, content to live under despots and dictators, meeting their bills by inflation whenever their principal source of income runs dry—that prime source being the American taxpayer.

Brandishing the every-ready threat of joining Russia, these nations have kept the Truman Administration in a receptive mood to siphon billion after billion of American wealth down the bottomless hole of European "friendship."

The budget, representing an increase of $13,655 over last year's figure, calls for a tax rate of 32 mills. Final approval of the amount will be made by the board on April 26.

Included in the new budget is $12,015 for general control, $128,459 for instruction, $14,739 for auxiliary agencies, $21,390 for operation of the schools, $19,850 for school maintenance, $7,390 for fixed charges, $13,550 for debt service and $4,590 for capital outlay.

This is our third season of diplomatic summer stock at Flushing Meadow and the U. N. peace players are still presenting "Annie Drop Your Gun!"

Last time they opened at Flushing, Gromyko was under study to Vishinsky but he ran a walkout into a walkout and a walkout into a starring role.

In fact this fellow is such a sensational performer that just the way he says "No!" makes headlines in 14 languages in Moscow alone.

It's not that he has a fat part so much as he leaves us with a thin peace.

GUILTY AS CHARGED

Accusations of multi-million dollar shortages which Senator Williams of Delaware leveled against the Commodity Credit Corporation have now been supported in full in a report by Lindsay C. Warren, comptroller general of the United States.

These are the charges which Senator Lucas, majority leader, described as "pure politics" and sought to keep from consideration by the Senate. If Mr. Lucas is now of the same mind as before, he is shockingly indifferent to the need of elementary efficiency in the conduct of the government.

The record, as Mr. Warren reveals it, is one of incredible carelessness in the distribution of the taxpayers' money, of a waste of fixed assets, and of clear favoritism in the award of contracts. There may not have been actual fraud but the invitation to fraud was always present.

In any event, says the comptroller general, the accounting deficiencies encountered were "so substantial and the inaccuracies so material" that he cannot express any opinion whether the financial statements prepared by the corporation present fairly its financial position.

Senator Williams is entitled to the utmost credit for bringing the sordid facts to light and the Senate owes it to the taxpayers to speedily adopt the comptroller general's recommendation for a further investigation into the whole situation.

EDUCATIONAL REFORM

The University of Michigan has taken the lead in a matter which is arousing interest in the nation's education system. There students are permitted to grade their instructors on qualities which either do or do not make them satisfactory to the student body, a plan unheard of until the Michigan school put it into effect.

Those who are held to be inept at instructional work are either transferred or dropped entirely from the faculty. The idea is to weed out the misfits.

In the past it has been taken for granted that any person holding a college or university degree was therefore capable of teaching. This has not always been true. Criticism of the present educational system, if the truth were known, stems from the lack of teaching ability displayed by a certain percentage of instructors. It is this minority that will be eliminated at the Michigan school.

The students have the most at stake, as a matter of fact. They are investing their time and money, and certainly should have a voice in judging the profits from such investment. Any plan which will eliminate the duds, time wasters and ineffective should be given national consideration in behalf of the students.

League of The Listless

Left to natural laws, these populations would have starved themselves into a sense of reality long before this. But they have been able to feed, leech-like, on the blood of American resources—upon the wealth created in past generations here under the system which these "new order" states are battling to the death; the system of "capitalism" and free enterprise.

This is a game which Uncle Sam can't win, no matter how it comes out. If he keeps on wasting America's wealth with a prodigal hand, and nothing else happens, he will eventually go broke. If the people of Europe begin coming back to their senses, and rediscover the lost art of hard work, we have already given them the facilities to manufacture the great bulk of the goods we need—they will fight us for our own home market, and win with the tools we are giving them, and thereby wreck our economy.

If we slide on away from self-reliance into Socialism, then we can all wallow in the bog together. If we try to walk out on the senseless program, many of these nations will promptly turn to Russia as a means (they think) of continuing to live comfortably without work.

Even on the continent of Europe, the economic groundwork of the Atlantic Pact is illogical. For a century, European commerce revolved around industrial Germany. Heavy goods from Germany was the keystone of the production arch in Europe, from Greece and Turkey all the way to the Scandinavian Peninsula.

Germany's heavy industry was knocked out during the war. What was not bombed into ruins, Russia walked off with after the war was over. Russia didn't steal this heavy machinery—Mr. Truman made Russia a present of it at the Potsdam Conference. Its disappearance from European economy has left a vacuum.

Now, if there is any one point upon which the European members of the Atlantic Pact agree, it is on the question of Germany. They all fear the re-emergence of a strong, united Germany. Yet without the re-building of Germany's heavy industry, no one has yet ventured any hint of a plan for making Europe self-supporting. We can go on paying Europe's bills forever, unless our new European partners become willing to see Germany restored.

In a military sense, the Pact is ridiculous. We are trying to build a "front" against Russia. Yet it is a military line which does not "anchor" at either end, and is full of gaps in the middle. We have only a tenuous grip in the Scandinavian countries—our left flank could be "turned" there at any time. In the center, Spain is omitted; our State Department, though willing to wink at Socialist dictators all through Europe, is adamant against Spain's fascism. The roles of Italy, Greece and Turkey in the Atlantic Pact have not been defined. The Mediterranean is, after all, only an arm of the Atlantic Ocean, especially as a military factor. At any event, the right flank of the anti-Communist "front" fades off into uncertainty, with many spots where it could be turned or broken.

The Atlantic Pact brings together a League of the Listless. It unites a string of nations who are unwilling to stand on their own feet.

It's misery that craves company—not courage. The great incentives of the plain American to favor the pact are selfish, and they are very obviously based on a sense of insecurity. The tacit promise of this alliance, for America, is that if Russia attacks, other lands and other peoples will bear the brunt. We are setting up the European members of the alliance as "buffer states" to take the beating while we get ready.

They know that as well as we do. They will, of course, govern themselves accordingly. That means that we will never dare rely on their "standing up." Hitler showed, in the case of Denmark and Holland and Norway, for example, how foolish it would be for us to count on having these country's in our corner, if a big squeeze developed sometime in the future.

What the Pact boils down to is an elaborate system of diplomatic bribery to these European countries, scraping the bottom of the barrel of our own resources trying to keep them, not in our own camp, but out of Russia's camp.

The money which the Pact will eventually cost us will go for many purposes. Some of it, of course, will be armaments which will be turned over to these unreliable "allies." Later they may come to use these arms against each other—possibly sometime against us.

We will go on pouring American tax receipts into the future job of "supporting" Europe's paper currencies; paying off their various debts; helping them reduce the taxes their subjects pay; building up the illusion that Socialism in Europe is on a sound economic basis.

The starry-eyed exponents of this plan tell us that the heart of Europe will burst with gratitude some day, if we keep this up long enough.

But what will the mind of Europe think of the intelligence of the American people, tolerating this fantastic and inconceivably expensive program of trying to "buy" friendship?

Most Socialists in Europe are preaching that "capitalistic" states such as the U. S. A. are soft, degenerate, run-down.

Are we proving it for them?

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Apr. 5 — (INS) — The unsuccessful attempt of house leaders to force the Senate to adopt a five day working schedule this week marked the second split between the two bodies. . . the other was the Senate's insistence upon amendments to the beer tax which propose a five per cent breakage for brewers to compensate them for damaged goods. . . as a result, the beer tax has been given to a conference committee representing both houses with members authorized to iron out the dispute. . . one of the reasons the Senate probably rejected a five day week was the remark in the House that the speedup would permit the Senate to "catch up" on its work. . . the Senate, which usually meets at 4 p. m. each day except on the last day of the work week, is particularly touchy of any criticism. . . Senators enjoy a more leisurely day than the 208-member House which starts off at 1 p. m. each work day except Monday when it meets at 4 p. m. . . the late starting hour Monday is to allow assemblymen time to reach the state capitol from their homes.

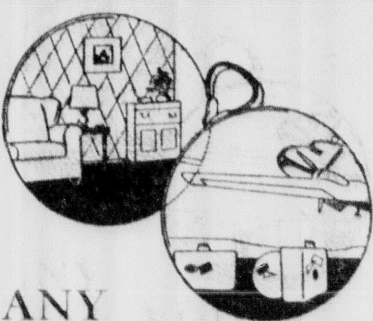

Rep. Francis Worley (R) Adams, the man who many times votes against so-called "must" legislation being pushed by Republican leaders has introduced 21 bills during the 1949 session but not one has been reported from committee. . . It is doubtful whether any of the proposals will be. . . Worley, tremendously popular in his home district has not complained. . . he intends to use the action of the GOP leaders to supplement his campaign for reelection. . . Worley became a figure during the 1947 session when he cast the lone vote against salary increases for judges.

The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (AFL) is waging an intensive campaign on behalf of labor among assemblymen. . . each day, printed forms are distributed to members of the House and Senate showing which bills on the work calendar are favored and opposed. The PFL's chief opponent, the CIO, has as yet to come up with anything approaching the campaign.

The state game commission levied fines totaling $4,267 during January against 96 hunters accused of game law violations. . . fine ranged from $10 to $200. . . three hunters paid $200 each while 23 others paid $100 each. . . the others were under $100.

So far, there has been little done to clarify the 1947 "home rule" tax act. . . the controversial law has been attacked and praised. . . Governor Duff has said he would not oppose amendments eliminating inequalities, a tacit admission that some clarification was necessary. . . but the General Assembly has bypassed the problem. . . more than 800 towns are affected by the law.

State Police Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm surprised legislators when he issued a statement disclosing he was lukewarm to a legislative investigation of un-American activities in schools, labor unions, public offices and private organizations. . . the investigation was proposed by Sen. F. Montgomery Crowe (R) Monroe, a member of the 28th Infantry Division during World War I. . . Wilhelm said the validity of the proposal was questionable but did not give his reason. . . it may be that the State Police do not wish to disclose—even to a legislative committee—the voluminous files on subversive activities. . . the file has been compiled during the last decade.

Trenton Woman Leaps Off Morrisville Bridge

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 6—Reported despondent over financial affairs a woman identified as Mrs. Viola Nield, 27, Perry st., Trenton, N. J., leaped off the Calhoun st. bridge across the Delaware river here last night.

She floated unconscious for about 100 feet and then became stranded on a large rock sticking out of the water.

She was rescued from the rock, still unconscious, by bystanders and police, and taken by the latter to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, where she was treated for shock and exposure. Physicians said she would recover.

At the hospital Mrs. Nield was reported to have told police she had become unbearably depressed by worry over the burden of keeping a brother in a sanitarium, and had decided that suicide was the only way out.

She further revealed to police that she had walked out alone on the bridge, now closed to traffic, with the firm intention of killing herself. At this point physicians halted questioning, in order to conserve her strength.

First flash of the woman's leap reached the First Precinct police station from Interstate Police Officer John Pavata, 59, of Prospect Heights, on duty at the end of the bridge. He said a pedestrian, Mildred Groh, 49, of 152 Passaic st., Trenton, had told him she found a woman's coat and purse lying on the walk mid-way across the span.

Bucks County Rescue Squad responded to a call to the scene.

LOTS OF LIVING IN LITTLE SPACE

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

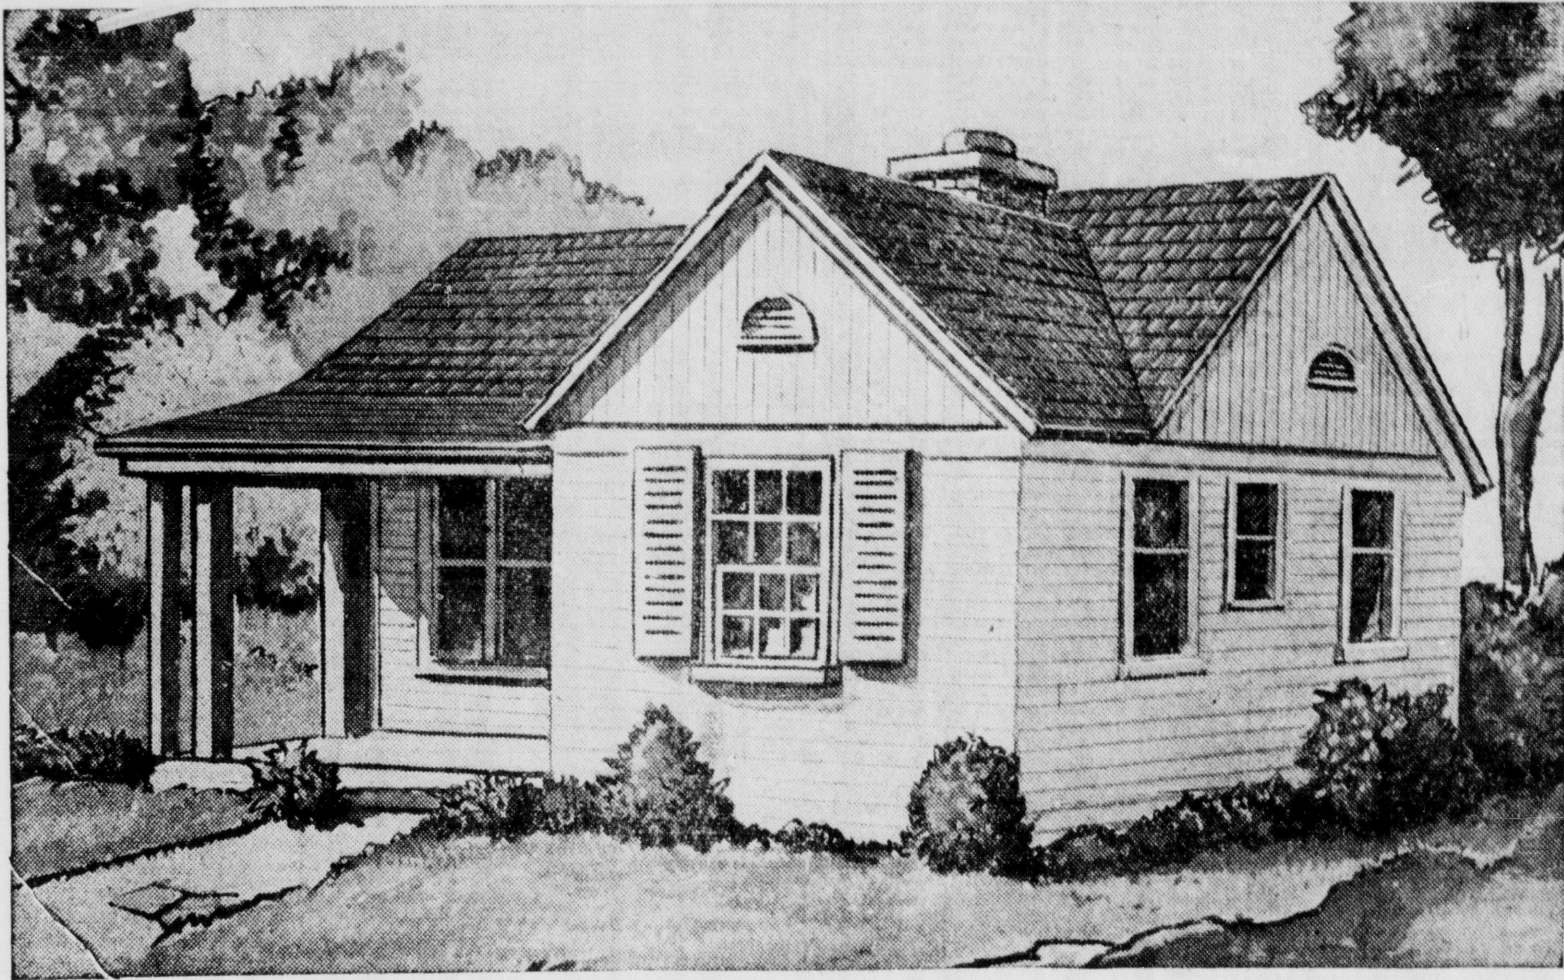

SOUNDS hard to believe, but this snug little four room home is estimated by its designer to cost less than $5,000 at present-day costs.

Planned to provide lots of living in small space, a number of thoughtful ideas have been worked out in its design, as will be seen, to increase the feeling of spaciousness and elbow room.

The house, as designed by C. A. Gunn of Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan, is of standard frame construction, having wood clapboard siding on wood sheathing, a fire-resistant roof and brick chimney with terra cotta flue. Living room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath are on the ground floor, with unfinished attic space above.

Double windows on front and side make the living room light and airy, a feature which could be easily enhanced by substituting a large picture window for one pair of the double-hung windows. Care has been taken to provide wall areas sufficiently large to accommodate the space requirements of such furniture pieces as full-size secretary desk, sofa or day-bed, upright piano, and—since the living room is also the dining room—the dining table and chairs.

The large 9-by-15-foot kitchen permits arranging cabinets, sink, range and refrigerator in a U-shape at one end. A compact, automatic oil-burning warm-air-space-heater occupies one corner of the kitchen with house has a clapboard exterior, but its sturdy standard wood frame lends itself equally well to any other desired finish, including brick veneer.

by poured concrete footings and covering the slab with colorful asphalt tile as the finish flooring. The slab extends outside the house to serve as the porch floor. Containing 735 square feet of space, the living area can be increased to 840 feet by including in the living room the 7 x 15-foot space shown in the plan for the porch. Roof lines need not be altered.

Another idea, not covered in the plan, which would add much outdoor living, is a flagstone or concrete side terrace extending from the front line of the porch to the rear of the house.

Although planned with a clapboard exterior, this house can be finished in any material, including brick veneer, because of its sturdy, standard framing.

THE INTERIOR PLAN HAS BEEN carefully arranged to give the maximum feeling of spaciousness, while compactly providing for convenient living.

Remove Parking Meters During Bridge Repairs

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 6.—Parking meters along the east side of Bridge street were removed yesterday morning by order of William Howell, borough secretary and Charles C. Young, Jr., police commissioner, as a temporary measure to relieve traffic congestion while the Calhoun street bridge is closed for repairs.

The instructions were issued in cooperation with a request from the State Highway Department, which suggested that removal of the meters might facilitate the flow of detoured traffic through Morrisville. If the no-parking restriction seems unnecessary after a short trial period, the meters will be replaced. Otherwise, parking will resume along Bridge street only after bridge repairs have been completed.

A crew of workmen started Calhoun street bridge repairs yesterday morning, when the bridge was closed for the first day of a seven-week period. Alterations will include the installation of a steel mesh floor to replace wood planks used up to this time.

He advised, "Always be on the alert and ready to protect self." The manner in which a man should be taken out of a theatre or train, where seats are close together, was also demonstrated. Means of protecting self, whether approached from the front or rear, were also shown, and the officers were shown how to properly carry a night stick. Nineteen were present.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Lehman Strauss

Text: 2 Thessalonians 3:11
"For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but busybodies."

The English word "busybody" is used three times in the New Testament. Now the busybody is not the same as the busy person. The busybody fails to keep busy in his own affairs, but is over-busy in the affairs of others. Have you ever looked into a neglected garden? The soil was fertile, yet the garden was over-run with weeds. The owner was not necessarily lazy, but just over-busy meddling into someone else's affairs. How dangerous to neglect the garden of our own soul! Mind your own business.

WE HAVE all heard of the miraculous springs of Lourdes, France, and famous Thionin in ancient Greece, where, according to legend, Hercules, the god of eternal strength and youth, drank its waters and bathed to be forever young.

IF YOU ARE a sufferer, and can not go to the mineral springs, try GEO-MINERAL, which contains a blend of the same minerals that can be found at the world's best springs. The minerals in it may work miracles.

Amazing Results
WATCH your elimination from your bowels two or three days after you start using GEO-MINERAL. The waste, black as coal, will break away and you will SEE IT! Also examine your urine. You may see impurities—poisonous waste—coming out of your kidneys, and feel the relief. Be sure to watch for all this to realize the priceless value of GEO-MINERAL.

recovered in Brown's room at the Red Lion Hotel.

Trooper Griffith testified that Brown, under arrest, gave the police a statement on March 24.

In the statement, Brown admitted that he stole the camera, and that he held up the ice cream stand, hit Hillegass over the head, and that he intended to rob the place but didn't have time to get the cash box.

Trooper Griffith said he searched Brown and his room for money and found none. A pair of aluminum knuckles were found in Brown's bedroom.

The trooper also informed the court that Brown had been running around with "bad company" in Coopersburg before this crime.

Judge Keller committed Brown to the Penna. Industrial School at White Hill for an indefinite term.

"This is a typical example of a boy not listening to his parents," Judge Keller commented. "You got three miles away from home, and look what it got you. This has been a disgraceful and costly experience for you, your first experience in trying to be a criminal."

The blackjack and knuckles which Brown had in his possession were brought home from overseas by a brother as war souvenirs, the court was informed.

Justice Sets Heavy Bail For Perkasie Resident

The heaviest bail on record in recent years in an assault and battery case in Bucks county, was placed on Robert Scheetz, 29, of Perkasie, Saturday, by Justice of the Peace E. B. Keller, of Perkasie.

The charge is aggravated, according to Justice Keller, who said there is evidence that Scheetz, in an alleged intoxicated condition, assaulted his wife and threatened her with a loaded shotgun.

Scheetz was arrested by Chief of Police James Schatz, of Perkasie, on the information of Scheetz's wife, Margaret, who is the prosecutrix.

Justice Keller fixed bail at $5,000, and in default of bail, Scheetz was committed to the Bucks County Prison at Doylestown, to await the action of the Grand Jury at the next term of Bucks county criminal court.

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

An unusual note was introduced at the Sunday morning service of Forest Grove Presbyterian church, when the student pastor, Mr. Dickson, introduced the Rev. and Mrs. Ralph Clemens, Lansdale, Mennonite missionaries in Ethiopia, who are home on furlough.

Mr. Clemens gave greetings from Dr. and Mrs. Davies, now missionaries in Addis Ababa. Ten years ago Dr. Davies was pastor of the Forest Grove church, and gave up the charge to teach religion.

Mr. Clemens, who is business manager of a hospital, is 60 miles from the mission where Mrs. Davies teaches in an English school and Dr. Davies is in the process of translating the New Testament from Greek into Arabic.

The Davies family plans to return to this country for a furlough in a year, and at that time will visit the church, at Forest Grove to tell of their work in Ethiopia.

John F. Mason, a past president of Kiwanis Club of Doylestown, was the speaker last night at the weekly dinner meeting of Kiwanis. His subject was "A layman's viewpoint of socialized medicine."

LEAGUE OF THE LISTLESS

Since man first began writing down the history of events, there have been countless alliances among states and nations, for many purposes.

Most of these failed to reach their goals. Only a handful succeeded in their objectives.

Perhaps no league ever formed was more illogical in its lineup, and more clearly foredoomed to costly failure, than the Atlantic Pact now being brought to completion.

It doesn't make sense in economics, diplomacy, military tactics—or human nature.

As for the Pact's economic foundation, the agreement is as one-sided as the famous understanding between the ducks and the horses—"not to step on each others' feet." It is something like the wise-crack made by the Yankee showman, P. T. Barnum, regarding his contract with Jenny Lind, who was as noted for her charitable contributions as for her brilliant voice:

"Why is it that Jenny Lind and Barnum will never fall out? Because he is always for-getting, and she is always for-giving." There you have the two roles of the major parties making up the Atlantic Pact. The European members of the alliance, from Great Britain down, are "for getting." Uncle Sam's purpose in it is "for giving."

With the war over for four years this spring, the peoples of Europe have still shown no interest in going back to work and becoming self-supporting. They are more interested in politics than perspiration. Their immediate political interest is Socialism, because this promises them government support whether they earn it or not.

Dazzled by this dream of security financed by government checks, the nations of Europe have drifted. They have become listless, content to live under despots and dictators, meeting their bills by inflation whenever their principal source of income runs dry—that prime source being the American taxpayer.

Brandishing the every-ready threat of joining Russia, these nations have kept the Truman Administration in a receptive mood to siphon billion after billion of American wealth down the bottomless hole of European "friendship."

SCHOOL BOARD LOOK INTO STATE AUTHORITY ACT

Desire To Learn Provisions For Financing New School

BUDGET CONSIDERED

Plan Some Projects To Be Done During Vacation Period

The Bristol School Board decided to investigate the provisions of the Pennsylvania State School Authority as a means of financing the proposed new Bristol high school building. The Board is not entirely familiar with the act and desires to learn if it is advisable to file an application under this act now, and just what the commitments of the board would be under such an application.

Students of the Bristol Township schools who have a diploma or certificate from the 10th grade will be admitted to the 11th grade of the Bristol high school. This was approved by the board last night. The provisions adopted by the board further provided: "We would not assume any responsibility of arranging for township pupils having subject delinquencies to repeat the failed 10th grade subjects in our school."

"Minimum of four Carnegie Units of credit would be required in 10th grade major subjects as partial completion of the 13 Carnegie Units minimum required for graduation."

The meeting was presided over by Vice-President Robert C. Ruehl, in the absence of Mrs. William Harding, who is ill.

Further details of the 1949-1950 budget were given consideration.

A letter from the Bristol Teachers' Association was read concerning its approval of some of the provisions of the recent salary schedule and a request for further clarification of some of the items.

It was decided to ask for bids for work on the football field, lavatory rooms at Washington street building, some window shades, painting of the interior of the high school building.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan (Distributed by International News Service)

This is our third season of diplomatic summer stock at Flushing Meadow and the U. N. peace players are still presenting "Annie Drop Your Gun!"

And still not finding Annicorne willing to drop first.

Last time they opened at Flushing, Gromyko was understudy to Vishinsky but he ran a walkout into a walkout and a walkout into a starring role.

In fact this fellow is such a sensational performer that just the way he says "No!" makes headlines in 14 languages in Moscow alone.

It's not that he has a fat part so much as he leaves us with a thin peace.

GUILTY AS CHARGED

Accusations of multi-million dollar shortages which Senator Williams of Delaware leveled against the Commodity Credit Corporation have now been supported in full in a report by Lindsay C. Warren, comptroller general of the United States.

These are the charges which Senator Lucas, majority leader, described as "pure politics" and sought to keep from consideration by the Senate. If Mr. Lucas is now of the same mind as before, he is shockingly indifferent to the need of elementary efficiency in the conduct of the government.

The record, as Mr. Warren reveals it, is one of incredible carelessness in the distribution of the taxpayers' money, of a waste of fixed assets, and of clear favoritism in the award of contracts. There may not have been actual fraud but the invitation to fraud was always present.

In any event, says the comptroller general, the accounting deficiencies encountered were "so substantial and the inaccuracies so material" that he cannot express any opinion whether the financial statements prepared by the corporation present fairly its financial position.

Senator Williams is entitled to the utmost credit for bringing the sordid facts to light and the Senate owes it to the taxpayers to speedily adopt the comptroller general's recommendation for a further investigation into the whole situation.

EDUCATIONAL REFORM

The University of Michigan has taken the lead in a matter which is arousing interest in the nation's education system. There students are permitted to grade their instructors on qualities which either do or do not make them satisfactory to the student body, a plan unheard of until the Michigan school put it into effect.

Those who are held to be inept at instructional work are either transferred or dropped entirely from the faculty. The idea is to weed out the misfits.

In the past it has been taken for granted that any person holding a college or university degree was therefore capable of teaching. This has not always been true. Criticism of the present educational system, if the truth were known, stems from the lack of teaching ability displayed by a certain percentage of instructors. It is this minority that will be eliminated at the Michigan school.

The students have the most at stake, as a matter of fact. They are investing their time and money, and certainly should have a voice in judging the profits from such investment. Any plan which will eliminate the duds, time wasters and ineffective should be given national consideration in behalf of the students.

League of The Listless

Left to natural laws, these populations would have starved themselves into a sense of reality long before this. But they have been able to feed, leech-like, on the blood of American resources—upon the wealth created in past generations here under the system which these "new order" states are battling to the death; the system of "capitalism" and free enterprise.

This is a game which Uncle Sam can't win, no matter how it comes out. If he keeps on wasting America's wealth with a prodigal hand, and nothing else happens, he will eventually go broke. If the people of Europe begin coming back to their senses, and rediscover the lost art of hard work, we have already given them the facilities to manufacture the great bulk of the goods we need—they will fight us for our own home market, and win with the tools we are giving them, and thereby wreck our economy.

If we slide on away from self-reliance into Socialism, then we can all wallow in the bog together. If we try to walk out on the senseless program, many of these nations will promptly turn to Russia as a means (they think) of continuing to live comfortably without work.

Even on the continent of Europe, the economic groundwork of the Atlantic Pact is illogical. For a century, European commerce revolved around industrial Germany. Heavy goods from Germany was the keystone of the production arch in Europe, from Greece and Turkey all the way to the Scandinavian Peninsula.

Germany's heavy industry was knocked out during the war. What was not bombed into ruins, Russia walked off with after the war was over. Russia didn't steal this heavy machinery—Mr. Truman made Russia a present of it at the Potsdam Conference. Its disappearance from European economy has left a vacuum.

Now, if there is any one point upon which the European members of the Atlantic Pact agree, it is on the question of Germany. They all fear the re-emergence of a strong, united Germany. Yet without the re-building of Germany's heavy industry, no one has yet ventured any hint of a plan for making Europe self-supporting. We can go on paying Europe's bills forever, unless our new European partners become willing to see Germany restored.

In a military sense, the Pact is ridiculous. We are trying to build a "front" against Russia. Yet it is a military line which does not "anchor" at either end, and is full of gaps in the middle. We have only a tenuous grip in the Scandinavian countries—our left flank could be "turned" there at any time. In the center, Spain is omitted; our State Department, though willing to wink at Socialist dictators all through Europe, is adamant against Spain's fascism. The roles of Italy, Greece and Turkey in the Atlantic Pact have not been defined. The Mediterranean is, after all, only an arm of the Atlantic Ocean, especially as a military factor. At any event, the right flank of the anti-Communist "front" fades off into uncertainty, with many spots where it could be turned or broken.

The Atlantic Pact brings together a League of the Listless. It unites a string of nations who are unwilling to stand on their own feet.

It's misery that craves company—not courage. The great incentives of the plain American to favor the pact are selfish, and they are very obviously based on a sense of insecurity. The tacit promise of this alliance, for America, is that if Russia attacks, other lands and other peoples will bear the brunt. We are setting up the European members of the alliance as "buffer states" to take the beating while we get ready.

They know that as well as we do. They will, of course, govern themselves accordingly. That means that we will never dare rely on their "standing up." Hitler showed, in the case of Denmark and Holland and Norway, for example, how foolish it would be for us to count on having these country's in our corner, if a big squeeze developed sometime in the future.

What the Pact boils down to is an elaborate system of diplomatic bribery to these European countries, scraping the bottom of the barrel of our own resources trying to keep them, not in our own camp, but out of Russia's camp.

The money which the Pact will eventually cost us will go for many purposes. Some of it, of course, will be armaments which will be turned over to these unreliable "allies." Later they may come to use these arms against each other—possibly sometime against us.

We will go on pouring American tax receipts into the future job of "supporting" Europe's paper currencies; paying off their various debts; helping them reduce the taxes their subjects pay; building up the illusion that Socialism in Europe is on a sound economic basis.

The starry-eyed exponents of this plan tell us that the heart of Europe will burst with gratitude some day, if we keep this up long enough.

But what will the mind of Europe think of the intelligence of the American people, tolerating this fantastic and inconceivably expensive program of trying to "buy" friendship?

Most Socialists in Europe are preaching that "capitalistic" states such as the U. S. A. are soft, degenerate, run-down.

THE CAPITOL WHIRL

A Digest of Things Political Occurring At Harrisburg

HARRISBURG, Apr. 5 — (INS) — The unsuccessful attempt of house leaders to force the Senate to adopt a five day working schedule this week marked the second split between the two bodies. . . the other was the Senate's insistence upon amendments to the beer tax which propose a five per cent breakage for brewers to compensate them for damaged goods. . . as a result, the beer tax has been given to a conference committee representing both houses with members authorized to iron out the dispute. . . one of the reasons the Senate probably rejected a five day week was the remark in the House that the speedup would permit the Senate to "catch up" on its work. . . the Senate, which usually meets at 4 p. m. each day except on the last day of the work week, is particularly touchy of any criticism. . . Senators enjoy a more leisurely day than the 208-member House which starts off at 1 p. m. each work day except Monday when it meets at 4 p. m. . . the late starting hour Monday is to allow assemblymen time to reach the state capitol from their homes.

Rep. Francis Worley (R) Adams, the man who many times votes against so-called "must" legislation being pushed by Republican leaders has introduced 21 bills during the 1949 session but not one has been reported from committee. . . It is doubtful whether any of the proposals will be. . . Worley, tremendously popular in his home district has not complained. . . he intends to use the action of the GOP leaders to supplement his campaign for reelection. . . Worley became a figure during the 1947 session when he cast the lone vote against salary increases for judges.

The Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (AFL) is waging an intensive campaign on behalf of labor among assemblymen. . . each day, printed forms are distributed to members of the House and Senate showing which bills on the work calendar are favored and opposed. The AFL's chief opponent, the CIO, has as yet to come up with anything approaching the campaign.

The state game commission levied fines totaling $4,367 during January against 96 hunters accused of game law violations. . . fine ranged from $10 to $200. . . three hunters paid $200 each while 23 others paid $100 each. . . the others were under $100.

So far, there has been little done to clarify the 1947 "home rule" tax act. . . the controversial law has been attacked and praised. . . Governor Duff has said he would not oppose amendments eliminating inequalities, a tacit admission that some clarification was necessary. . . but the General Assembly has bypassed the problem. . . more than 800 towns are affected by the law.

State Police Commissioner C. M. Wilhelm surprised legislators when he issued a statement disclosing he was lukewarm to a legislative investigation of un-American activities in schools, labor unions, public offices and private organizations. . . the investigation was proposed by Sen. F. Montgomery Crowe (R) Monroe, a member of the 28th Infantry Division during World War I. Wilhelm said the validity of the proposal was questionable but did not give his reason. . . it may be that the State Police do not wish to disclose the voluminous files on subversive activities. . . the file has been compiled during the last decade.

Trenton Woman Leaps Off Morrisville Bridge

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 6 — Reported despondent over financial affairs a woman identified as Mrs. Viola Nield, 27, Perry st., Trenton, N. J., leaped off the Calhoun st. bridge across the Delaware river here last night.

She floated unconscious for about 100 feet and then became stranded on a large rock sticking out of the water.

She was rescued from the rock, still unconscious, by bystanders and police, and taken by the latter to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, where she was treated for shock and exposure. Physicians said she would recover.

At the hospital Mrs. Nield was reported to have told police she had become unbearably depressed by worry over the burden of keeping a brother in a sanitarium, and had decided that suicide was the only way out.

She further revealed to police that she had walked out alone on the bridge, now closed to traffic, with the firm intention of killing herself. At this point physicians halted questioning, in order to conserve her strength.

First flash of the woman's leap reached the First Precinct police station from Interstate Police Officer John Pavata, 59, of Prospect Heights, on duty at the end of the bridge. He said a pedestrian, Mildred Groh, 49, of 152 Passaic st., Trenton, had told him she found a woman's coat and purse lying on the walk mid-way across the span.

Bucks County Rescue Squad responded to a call to the scene.

How much broader is the scope of our lives, because we can read about the wide world in newsprint. How much more we know about people and politics; child care and cooking; health and happiness — because our newspaper covers everything! Its editorial columns better our way of life, too, by championing the democratic way when vital issues face us as a family — as a community — as a nation! # LOTS OF LIVING IN LITTLE SPACE

By MARION CLYDE MCCARROLL

SOUNDS hard to believe, but this snug little four room home is estimated by its designer to cost less than $5,000 at present-day costs.

Planned to provide lots of living in small space, a number of thoughtful ideas have been worked out in its design, as will be seen, to increase the feeling of spaciousness and elbow room.

The house, as designed by C. A. Gunn of Michigan State College, East Lansing, Michigan, is of standard frame construction, having wood clapboard siding on wood sheathing, a fire-resistant roof and brick chimney with terra cotta flue. Living room, kitchen, two bedrooms and bath are on the ground floor, with unfinished attic space above.

Double windows on front and side make the living room light and airy, a feature which could be easily enhanced by substituting a large picture window for one pair of the double-hung windows. Care has been taken to provide wall areas sufficiently large to accommodate the space requirements of such furniture pieces as full-size secretary desk, sofa or day-bed, upright piano, and—since the living room is also the dining room—the dining table and chairs.

The large 9-by-15-foot kitchen permits arranging cabinets, sink, range and refrigerator in a U-shape at one end. A compact, automatic oil-burning warm-air space-heater occupies one corner of the kitchen with additional cabinets and work counters adjoining. Because the walls and roof are insulated full-thick with fire-proof mineral wool, the house can be adequately heated in most climates without the need for installing duct-work in the several rooms, a money-saving feature.

LESS THAN FIVE THOUSAND DOLLARS WILL build this trim little four-room home at present-day costs, according to its designer. As shown, the

The arrangement of the kitchen makes it unnecessary to keep the door between it and the living-room closed to hide sink and stove, a summertime boon, since it allows a breeze to sweep through the house. Also, by repeating in the kitchen the wall and floor colors of the living-room, a feeling of extra spaciousness is added.

Floor construction costs in the house are lowered by making the floor a single concrete slab 4 inches thick supported house has a clapboard exterior, but its sturdy standard wood frame lends itself equally well to any other desired finish, including brick veneer.

by poured concrete footings and covering the slab with colorful asphalt tile as the finish flooring. The slab extends outside the house to serve as the porch floor. Containing 735 square feet of space, the living area can be increased to 840 feet by including in the living room the 7 x 15-foot space shown in the plan for the porch. Roof lines need not be altered.

Another idea, not covered in the plan, which would add much outdoor living, is a flagstone or concrete side terrace extending from the front line of the porch to the rear of the house.

Although planned with a clapboard exterior, this house can be finished in any material, including brick veneer, because of its sturdy, standard framing.

THE INTERIOR PLAN HAS BEEN carefully arranged to give the maximum feeling of spaciousness, while compactly providing for convenient living.

Remove Parking Meters During Bridge Repairs

MORRISVILLE, Apr. 6.—Parking meters along the east side of Bridge street were removed yesterday morning by order of William Howell, borough secretary and Charles C. Young, Jr., police commissioner, as a temporary measure to relieve traffic congestion while the Calhoun street bridge is closed for repairs.

The instructions were issued in cooperation with a request from the State Highway Department, which suggested that removal of the meters might facilitate the flow of detoured traffic through Morrisville. If the no-parking restriction seems unnecessary after a short trial period, the meters will be replaced. Otherwise, parking will resume along Bridge street only after bridge repairs have been completed.

A crew of workmen started Calhoun street bridge repairs yesterday morning, when the bridge was closed for the first day of a seven-week period. Alterations will include the installation of a steel mesh floor to replace wood planks used up to this time.

Classes Here Aid Firemen, Policemen

The subject at the school of instruction for Bristol police on Monday was "Judo," the instructor being Richard McIlwain, of the FBI. The history of judo or ju-jitsu was presented by Mr. McIlwain, who informed that it originated with the Chinese as a protection against bandits. Various "holds" were demonstrated by the instructor, with the aid of Officer John Dugan. McIlwain showed holds that should be used as a means of self-protection, and others for approaching a criminal. He advised, "Always be on the alert and ready to protect self." The manner in which a man should be taken out of a theatre or train, where seats are close together, was also demonstrated. Means of protecting self, whether approached from the front or rear, were also shown, and the officers were shown how to properly carry a night stick. Nineteen were present.

See the new DESOTO before you decide on any other car at any price!

Compare the others with "The Car Designed with YOU in Mind"

You cannot compare the new cars merely by looking at pictures... or by watching them on the highway. You've got to get behind the wheel yourself.

That's why we urge you to come and see this new De Soto before you decide on any other car.

You notice the difference right away. De Soto's doors are wide. You walk in... and keep your hat on. The steering wheel doesn't hit your knees. You're on chair-high seats, so that you get all the benefit of the larger windows and windshield.

You've got full stretch-out leg room, front and back. And you've got more luggage space in that flush-floor trunk than you ever dreamed of before.

Yes, De Soto is lower. It's got a longer wheelbase (all passengers ride between the axles). But there's no penalty for these advantages. Overall length and breadth are not increased. You needn't rebuild your garage. You can still change a tire. And a dented fender doesn't mean an expensive body repair job.

Let us show you all the new features of the car that lets you drive without shifting. Compare it for beauty, comfort, safety and value. Then decide.

Today's Quiet Moment

By The Rev. Lehman Strauss
Pastor
Calvary Baptist Church

Text: 2 Thessalonians 3:11
"For we hear that there are some which walk among you disorderly, working not at all, but busybodies."

The English word "busybody" is used three times in the New Testament. Now the busybody is not the same as the busy person. The busybody fails to keep busy in his own affairs, but is over-busy in the affairs of others. Have you ever looked into a neglected garden? The soil was fertile, yet the garden was over-run with weeds. The owner was not necessarily lazy, but just over-busy meddling into someone else's affairs. How dangerous to neglect the garden of our own soul! Mind your own business.

SOTTILLE SCORED 410 POINTS OF WARRIORS' 1026

Of the 1026 points scored by the Bristol High Warriors this season, 410 were made by "Jimmy" Sottille, high-scoring senior. The games include those of the P. I. A. A. players. Sottille had 158 field goals to his credit and 95 fouls. He made his fielders on 532 shots at the nets and dropped in his fouls in 159 attempts. "Jimmy" also had 167 rebounds off the boards and had eight bad passes. "Ham" Konefal followed Sottille in scoring honors with 198 points. He had 79 fielders in 206 attempts and 40 fouls in 73 tries. ## Admits Hold-Up of A Quakertown Store recovered in Brown's room at the Red Lion Hotel.

Trooper Griffith testified that Brown, under arrest, gave the police a statement on March 24.

In the statement, Brown admitted that he stole the camera, and that he held up the ice cream stand, hit Hillegass over the head, and that he intended to rob the place but didn't have time to get the cash box.

Trooper Griffith said he searched Brown and his room for money, and found none. A pair of aluminum knuckles were found in Brown's bedroom.

The trooper also informed the court that Brown had been running around with "bad company" in Coopersburg before this crime.

Judge Keller committed Brown to the Fenna Industrial School at White Hill for an indefinite term. "This is a typical example of a boy not listening to his parents," Judge Keller commented. "You got three miles away from home, and look what it got you. This has been a disgraceful and costly experience for you, your first experience in trying to be a criminal."

The blackjack and knuckles which Brown had in his possession were brought home from overseas by a brother as war souvenirs, the court was informed.
